MUCH EXCITEMENT AT ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, May 31.—The little hamlet of Briggs Street has furnished excitement for the whole town this week. First chapter, a suicide: Abraham Ruderman, aged 23, has been stopping at his uncle's, Henry Tennenbaum (the old Bunting place) at Briggs Street, for his health. He went to the barn one night recently. Not returning was found shortly afterward by a party in search, with his hands extending through heavy brush in a little woods in the rear of the barn. Going into the woods further they found him hanging by his neck from the limb of a pine tree, dead. He was taken down, and Dr. Neal as acting coroner, gave a verdict as suicide. Wood & Russett, undertakers, brought the body to Ellenville and shipped it to Brooklyn for interment in Washington cemetery.

Chapter II: Even greater excitement! A man passing under the name of Gallagher, about thirty years old, was arrested at McDowell's Echo Farm boarding house at Briggs Street Wednesday night by a posse of officers, who came here from New York after him. He is said to have defrauded the government of thousands of dollars. The man had been boarding, it is reported, at this boarding house and had recently purchased a new Stutz automobile which had just been delivered. When the officers reached Ellenville they secured the services of Officer Brown to accompany them to the place. They proceeded by auto to the above place and Brown went to the house and asked for the man, who was at the barn with his new auto. Brown recognized the man from the picture he had been shown. With another man he was getting the car out when Brown stepped on. The other man got out. Gallagher took the wheel and started. He refused to stop when a gun was shoved in his face and Brown dropped off and fired. The car went on and as he neared the men in waiting at road side, the men fired from front of car and Brown fired again, hitting the man on side of head. He was not badly hurt, but shut off the power and stopped. He was brought to Ellenville and taken to the office of Dr. Neal, who dressed his head, and later the party started for New York.

MANY VISITORS MEMORIAL DAY

Kingston Hotels Overtaxed by Influx of People—Rush Started for Catskills.

The rush to this section of Memorial Day pleasure seekers was greater than ever. Automobiles by the hundreds passed through this city Thursday and Friday for the Catskills and up the Ellenville road, and the Day Line steamers and West Shore trains carried thousands of passengers from New York. The West Shore train arriving from New York at the Union Station, 2:25 o'clock, Friday, had fourteen passenger coaches with standing room only from the time of leaving Weehawken. Fully half got out here. Many going up the U. & D., which had a big crowd from the day boat, and a large number coming to the Fair street station and going up the O. & W. railroad towns of Rochester and Wawarsing sections. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, every hotel in this city was compelled to turn people away for lack of sleeping rooms, and the hotel men after sending applicants to a score of private houses where accommodations might be had for the night, sent those unable to be roomed in this city to Woodstock, Saugerties, and nearby towns, where there were hotels or boarding houses, for the night.

Cantata at Trinity.

An entertainment will be given on Wednesday evening, June 4, in the Trinity M. E. Church parlors under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. EMPLOYERS MUST CARRY INSURANCE

Chairman of State Industrial Warns Those Who Are Not Complying With Compensation Law—How It May Be Done.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 31—"Many employers who come under the Workmen's Compensation Law are not carrying the insurance that the law requires," said John Mitchell, chairman of the State Industrial Commission, today.

"This law has been in force for almost five years and the neglect of numerous employers to carry workmen's compensation insurance is inexcusable.

"An employer who is subject to the law," said Mr. Mitchell, "may insure in one of four ways—in the state fund, in an insurance company, in a mutual, or —if he satisfies the commission of his finacial responsibility and deposits the necessary securities—may be permitted to become a self insurer.

"An employer subject to the act who fails to insure in one of these ways is not only subject to civil penalties but is also guilty of a misdemeanor, the maximum punishment of which is a fine of five hundred dollars or imprisonment for one year, or both such fine and imprisonment.

"Every week we have cases of awards to injured workmen and their dependents which cannot be collected because the employer failed to carry compensation insurance and is unable financially to meet the payments himself. Many of these cases are very sad indeed and involve great hardship to widows and orphans. The commission feels that it will resort to criminal prosecutions against employers who persistently neglect their duty under the law.

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse. It should be the duty of every uninsured employer to communicate with the Industrial Commission and find out just what his responsibilities are under the Workmen's Compensation Act. It is usually the small employer who fails to do this and it is he above all who should carry the proper insurance. A severe accident in his plant means his financial ruin—whereas, he could have protected himself and his injured workers by paying small annual premiums.

"The commission is determined to remedy this condition. We hope that employers will comply with the law voluntarily, but if it becomes necessary we shall not hesitate to commence legal proceedings against them."

THREE MORE IN COUNTY JAIL

The roster at the Ulster county jail had three names added on Memorial Day, being guests from out of town. A state trooper brought Patrick Moran to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny. Moran was arrested for stealing at Highmount in the town of Shandaken, and is said to be an old offender in the stealing line. He was committed by Police Justice Voss of Phoenicia. George Upright's name belies him, as he has been sent to jail for six months by Police Justice Daniel Fitzgerald of Ellenville, who found him guilty of petit larceny in having taken over to his own use a pair of shoes, trousers and other articles belonging to another who raised the legal objection and caused Upright's arrest. Fred Becker, colored, who was committed to jail by Police Justice Voss for twenty-five days, according to the commitment, violated a section of the state highway law in the town of Shandaken on Memorial Day. The constable stated Becker, who had no chauffeur license, was running an automobile, and while so doing ran into another automobile.

Slight Fire on Wall Street.

Fire thought to have been started by electricity from wires destroyed an awning over the front of the Costello & Dugan hardware store, Wall street, opposite the Keeney Theater, about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. A still alarm brought Willwyck Hose Company and Chief Chipp and neighbors threw buckets of water on the blaze. The window frame was scorched as was the paint on the metal cornice over the store front.

LATEST DESIGN FOR THE BRIDGE FROM RONDOUT TO SLEIGHTSBURGH

This is the bridge Commissioner Greene plans to build across Rondout Creek, the picture of which he exhibited when he visited Kingston recently. The photograph being made from a colored drawing, is very "flat" and a good engraving could not be made from it, but the above picture gives an idea of the appearance of the bridge, viewed from down stream, as it will appear if it is ever built.

MEMORIAL DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Thursday afternoon the high school students celebrated Memorial Day in a most appropriate manner. The G. A. R., in command of Major James H. Everett, were invited to attend, which they did.

At noon they retired to the boys' dining room, where they were tendered a most delightful and appetizing luncheon prepared by Miss Davis and her domestic science classes. One of the veterans said: "We were invited to a luncheon but I call this a feast."

Soon after this the entire student body took their places in the auditorium with the veterans occupying front seats. A short program was then opened by the school singing "America's Message."

Prof. Lewis explained the meaning and origin of the G. A. R. and told of their wonderful work in '61. He then introduced Mayor Canfield.

Mayor Canfield expressed his thankfulness for being able to attend the meeting, and of the honor bestowed upon him. He thanked the domestic science department for the delicious luncheon furnished by them.

Major Everett gave a very interesting talk and told of the wonderful school facilities offered at the present, comparing them with those of the past.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was delivered by Harry Madden in his usual skillful manner. "Marching Through Georgia was sung by the assembly. Elsa Stern, next, pleased the audience with the reading, "Bugles of Gettysburg." Edwin Green gave a wonderful declamation of the spirit of Memorial Day. Dorothy Brown recited "Old Glory," in a clever style. "Dixie" was then sung by all present.

A group of tableaux posed for by several of the students were then exhibited. The first was the "Saviour of the Star Spangled Banner." Carl Corsen represented Lincoln standing side-wise pledging allegiance to the American flag unfurled to the breeze. "The Defenders of Liberty," was a clever representation of the soldiers of '61, Elmer Douglas; of '76 Tyron Miller; of '18, John Connelly. In the center and rather to the rear stood "Liberty," the person of Lucinda Rich. "The Blue and Gray United Forever," was a very interesting tableau. It showed "Uncle Sam," Charles Vogt, with his arms on the shoulders of the "Blue" Elmer Douglas, and the "Gray," Steadman Teller. This showed that they stand one and inseparable now.

"The Spirit of America," was the final scene. This showed "Liberty," Lucinda Rich, standing behind and supporting the "Soldier" of '18," James Winters, who was holding aloft "Old Glory."

The exercises as a whole were very delightful and interesting to all.

HEALTH OFFICERS AT LABORATORY

On Thursday morning there was a meeting of the health officers of the various towns of the county, held at the City Laboratory, arranged by Dr. Laidlaw of the State Department of Health. There were several of the designated health officers present, the public health nurses, Miss Easton, the new bacteriologist; Dr. A. C. Gates, superintendent of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital; Dr. Henry Van Hoevenberg, school physician; Dr. M. E. Rose, supervisor of tuberculosis for the state; and Dr. Paul B. Brooks, director of the Division of Communicable Diseases of the State, as well as Dr. Laidlaw. Mayor Canfield was also in attendance, and at the request of Dr. Laidlaw, addressed those present, relative to the City Laboratory and what it will do for the county as well as the city physicians. Mayor Canfield said in part:

In brief, Mayor Canfield gave the history of the Ulster county laboratory, and then told of the terms and conditions under which the city had taken the laboratory as at present, for a municipal laboratory, all of which information has been previously published in The Freeman. The one fact that the mayor laid emphasis upon was the co-operation of the health officers not only as health officers, but as physicans was needed to make it possible to gain the utmost good from the laboratory, and the mayor carefully explained how the county health officers could avail themselves of the services of the laboratory, now in charge of Miss B. Eleanor Easton bacteriologist and pathologist. Whether or no the laboratory will become a permanent institution will depend, the mayor said, upon the co-operation of the physicians and health officers, proving the need of the institution.

Dr. Laidlaw then called upon Dr. Rose, supervisor of Tuberculosis, who said that he was sure all present were aware of the tuberculosis survey through the clinics, being held throughout the county. The reasons for this intensive survey being taken at this time was in order to reach the cases where early diagnosis had not yet been made for one reason or another. As a result of the clinics already held, an amazing situation had been disclosed. Beginning with Kingston city, Dr. Rose elaborated that statement as follows: In the year 1918, there were reported to have been 33 deaths in the city from tuberculosis, yet 7 of those cases had not been reported one week before death; 12 had not been reported one month before death, and some had not been reported at all.

In the county ther had been 54 deaths from tuberculosis, yet 6 had not been reported until after death; and in the city and county 21 out of 87 deaths had not been reported 6 months prior to the death, yet even the uninitiated knew that a tuberculosis patient did not die in 6 months after contracting the disease.

The question was, "Why had they not been reported?" It was not always the doctors' fault that the cases were not reported in time, and this county was not as bad as several others. It was because of the difficulty in diagnosing incipient cases, unless possessed of special training that the clinics had been and were being held, and that later there would be other provision made for helping the regular practitioner to gain many valuable points in making early diagnosis of these cases which if taken in time mean almost always the savings of human life. But there is no intent, according to Dr. Rose, on the part of the state to go over or under the family physician. The plan will be, as has already been shown in the clinics held, to gain either the permission of the family doctor, for the examination of the patient, with the hope that the physician will himself bring that patient to the clinic and there be able to get such information as he may lack, from seeing the expert make his diagnosis.

Dr. Rose gave a statistical report

BETTER SERVICE FROM NEW YORK

Mayor Canfield is Notified That His Request for Stopping of No. 29 at Rhinecliff at 10:26 p. m. Has Been Granted—Ferry Connects.

Some time since Mayor Canfield took the matter up with the New York Central Railroad of again putting on the Buffalonian which was operated for many years prior to the war and arrived at Kingston at about 10:35 o'clock in the evening. The railroad company was unable to comply with the request because of the present railroad situation and control of the government.

As an alternative, the mayor requested that the train which passes through Poughkeepsie at 10:07 o'clock in the evening be stopped at Rhinecliff for Kingston passengers. The railroad company has complied with the request to be effective on June 29, when the summer time table becomes effective. The letter to the mayor is as follows:

May 28, 1919.

My dear Mr. Canfield:

Referring to your favor of the 27th inst., I beg to advise that at the change of schedule, effective Sunday, June 29, which is our change from the winter to the summer schedule, it has been arranged to stop train No. 29 at Rhinecliff to discharge passengers. This train reaches Rhinecliff at 10:26 p. m. This will be the first change of time since we conferred on the matter some time ago, the new time table you referred to being necessary on account of the addition of train No. 55, leaving New York at 7:10 p. m., and was not a so-called change in time.

I am glad to note that the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry will operate a ferry which will connect with this train and therefore give Kingston people this added service.

Yours very truly,
General Agent.

NC-4 REACHES PLYMOUTH WINNING HONOR FOR AMERICA

Naval Seaplane Made Last Leg From Ferrol in 7 Hours—Great Crowd Welcomes Read and Crew.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Plymouth, May 31.—The American naval seaplane NC-4, commanded by Lieutenant-Commander Cushing Read, U. S. N., today successfully completed the historic first trans-Atlantic flight. The NC-4 alighted in the harbor at 2:26 o'clock, just six hours and 56 minutes after leaving Ferrol. The NC-4 was greeted by salutes from the warships in the harbor. It was skimming through the gray cloud rack off the coast.

The seaplane had spent the night at Ferrol, Spain, leaving on the final leg of the journey at 7:27 o'clock. Despite a drizzle of rain, a great crowd collected on the harbor front to watch for the arrival of the intrepid air crew. There was great rejoicing among the crew of the cruiser Aroostook in the harbor as the honors of the first flight went to the United States navy. The representatives of the town council went to Mayflower to extend official welcome to the American flyers.

Read and his companions had spent the night at Ferrol, having arrived there at 4:45 yesterday afternoon from the Mondego river, where engine trouble. The repairs were quickly made and after an exchange of wireless messages the NC-4 took the air again and sped northward.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS PICNIC

Thirty Members and Families at New Paltz For Annual Gathering of Association—Address By W. C. DeWitt—Ritch and Other Officers Re-Elected.

The annual business meeting and picnic of the Ulster and Orange County R. L. C. A. was held at New Paltz on Decoration Day. The meeting was called to order by the County President, E. J. Ritch. Roll Call showed thirty members present, with their families. The business meeting was held in Grange Hall. George I. Williams, Ex. New York State President from Hyde Park, was present representing State President William J. Fairbain. He made a short address on State Issues and also spoke in behalf of the Rural Delivery Record after which he secured a number of subscriptions for same.

The same officers were elected for the ensuing year who served last year, being E. J. Ritch of Kingston, president; John Van Steinburg of Wallkill, vice president; Harry Terwilliger of New Paltz, secretary and J. M. Goldsmith of Walden, treasurer. Harry Terwilliger, of New Paltz, was elected delegate to the State Convention with J. M. Goldsmith of Walden as alternate.

Postmaster Hasbrouck of New Paltz addressed the meeting for fifteen minutes giving a most interesting talk. Postmaster W. C. DeWitt of Kingson made a very interesting and appreciative address on post office work, touching on Memorial Day and its relation to the postal service and what rural carriers had accomplished in the sale of bonds, War Saving Stamps, etc., during the strenuous period of the war.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Wallkill. The business meeting then adjourned and all motored to Rifton Falls where the afternoon was spent picnicking in the grove adjoining the Wallkill River. Miss Williams of Hyde Park took pictures of the group after all were well supplied with a bounteous lunch by the ladies.

A Narrow Escape.

The editor of the Independent was run into by an auto and had a narrow escape from serious injury on Saturday afternoon. Returning from his office at about sundown, he was knocked down by an auto, approaching from the rear, at the intersection of South Chestnut street and Hasbrouck avenue. The auto contained a party of Newburgh men with Harry Boice, who had been on a little fishing trip. He suffered no injury except a bruised shin and a suit of clothes badly covered with mud. The Newburgh men stopped their car, got out and explained that their car skidded in going round the sharp turn and that driver's attention had been diverted by meeting another auto an instant before; moreover that they had shouted, which certainly he did not hear. We think the driver was perhaps just a little careless, but accidents will happen.—New Paltz Independent.

Practice Ball Game Monday.

On Monday evening at 7 o'clock the Independents and Crescents, two Twilight League teams, will play a practice game at the old Athletic Field to give their respective players a chance to take the kinks out of their arms before starting the league season later in the week.

CRYSTAL BROWN HERE TUESDAY

The first of the season's open air sings of the Community Chorus will be held Tuesday evening at City Hall Park, and seats will be provided for one thousand. The Colonial City Band will also be present and render a musical program from 7 to 7:45 o'clock, when the chorus will sing. A feature of the sing will be the appearance of Crystal Brown, the great Y. M. C. A. worker, who had charge of the singing in the training camps during the war. He will bring an accompanist with him, and will use a piano part of the time. The band will also play for the singing.

It is expected that a screen will also be placed in position and the words of the popular songs to be sung will be thrown on it. The park will be well lighted so that every one will be able to read the music. There should be a banner attendance that evening.

One of the greatest masterpieces of ancient art is the sarcophagus of Alexander the Great. It was discovered in 1887 by men who were excavating near Sidon. It is constructed from a pure white block of Pentelic marble, eleven feet long, five and three-fourths feet wide and four and two-thirds feet high, and is surmounted by a lid nearly three feet high. The relief sculpture on the front represents a victory of Alexander.

We are prepared to execute the order for an imposing sarcophagus or a simple, modern memorial tablet. The smallest order is executed with as painstaking attention to details as one of larger dimensions.

SUNDAY CHURCH RESTORATION DAY

Country-wide Appeal to Be Made From Pulpits by Protestant Clergy For Restoration of Churches in Devastated France and Belgium.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 31—Tomorrow will be observed as Church Restoration Sunday in churches throughout the country of the following denominations, which are co-operating with the Interchurch Committee for Christian Relief in France and Belgium.

Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian Church in U. S. A., United Presbyterian Church, National Lutheran Council, Baptist Churches, North, Congregational Churches, Reformed Church in America, Reformed Church in U. S. and Disciples of Christ.

Appeals will be made from the pulpits of these churches in behalf of fund which the Interchurch Committee is raising for the restoration of Protestant churches in the devastated districts of France and Belgium, and for giving emergency assistance to their pastors, congregations and church organizations during the period of early reconstruction.

Coffin Is Chairman.

William Sloane Coffin of New York city has accepted the chairmanship of the campaign committee which is conducting the drive and the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, author and former minister to the Netherlands, has accepted the vice-chairmanship. Dr. John Grier Hibben of Princeton University, has just been added to the committee.

Among the speakers in New York city in behalf of the movement will be Dr. Van Dyke, Chaplain Albert Leo of the French Army, cited six times for bravery underfire, who is now in this country as a delegate from the United Protestant organizations of France to the committee; the Rev. Dr. Henry Anet, delegate to the Inter-church Committee from the both branches of Belgium Protestantism and Major Pierre Blommaert, Protestant chaplain-in-chief of the Belgian army.

Over $3,000,000 Needed.

The amount of the relief fund was fixed originally at $2,000,000 but increasing needs have caused it to be raised to $3,200,000. These needs have been set forth in urgent messages from the organizations of French and Belgian Protestants.

The apportionment fund is announced by the committee in the following statement:

"The largest amount set apart from the fund is $1,350,000, which will be distributed by the Comite D'Entr' Aide in Paris, representing all of the Protestants of France. That committee is an admirably organized and vigorously directed relief organization designed to help in the rehabilitation of French Protestant families, with emergency assistance to churches within certain limits. It investigates needs, receives requests, estimates losses and ministers and distributes aid to the sufferers in the formerly invaded areas. Food and clothing are supplied, houses are furnished, and the renewal of family life is made possible.

Rebuild 35 Churches.

"For the restoration of churches and pastoral residences, $300,00 has been set apart. It will be applied in helping in the rebuilding or repair of thirty-five church buildings which were wholly or partly destroyed during the war. The cost of rebuilding will greatly exceed this estimate, even after full payment is made of the German indemnity.

"An apportionment of $150,000 has made the emergency relief of pastors. Many French pastors lost their lives and all that they possessed during the war. Others are sick and crippled. War prices place an intolerable burden upon them. Their impoverished congregations cannot provide sufficient salaries for them during the emergency conditions of reconstruction.

"We have decided to set apart $300,000 for the work of foreign missions. There are 50,000,000 inhabitants in the French colonies for whom there is no other door of approach than the French Foreign Missions. Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece are more open to French influence than any other. The French Foreign Missionary Societies have been sustained by special gifts, during the war, but their finances are terribly crippled and the work cannot be carried on effectively without outside support.

Home Missions $900,000

"For home missions we have also set aside $300,000. There are 20,000,000 Frenchmen not vitally connected with any religious organization, to whom Protestantism has a unique opportunity to appeal. Our aim is to strengthen the organizations which are working for them.

"We have decided to devote $150,000 to helping asylums, orphanages and nursing services, and $300,000 to the Anna Hamilton Hospital at Bordeaux, which is the only school of scientific nursing in France. Its director is called 'The Florence Nightingale of France.' Mrs. Bedford Fenwick, the greatest living nursing expert says: 'The school should not only be extended, but imitated in other localities. We imagine that there is no greater work connected with reconstruction than the provision of thoroughly qualified French nurses.'

"Other items of the apportionment are:

"Education and social work, schools in invaded regions, seminaries, etc., $100,000.

"Sunday schools, $100,000.

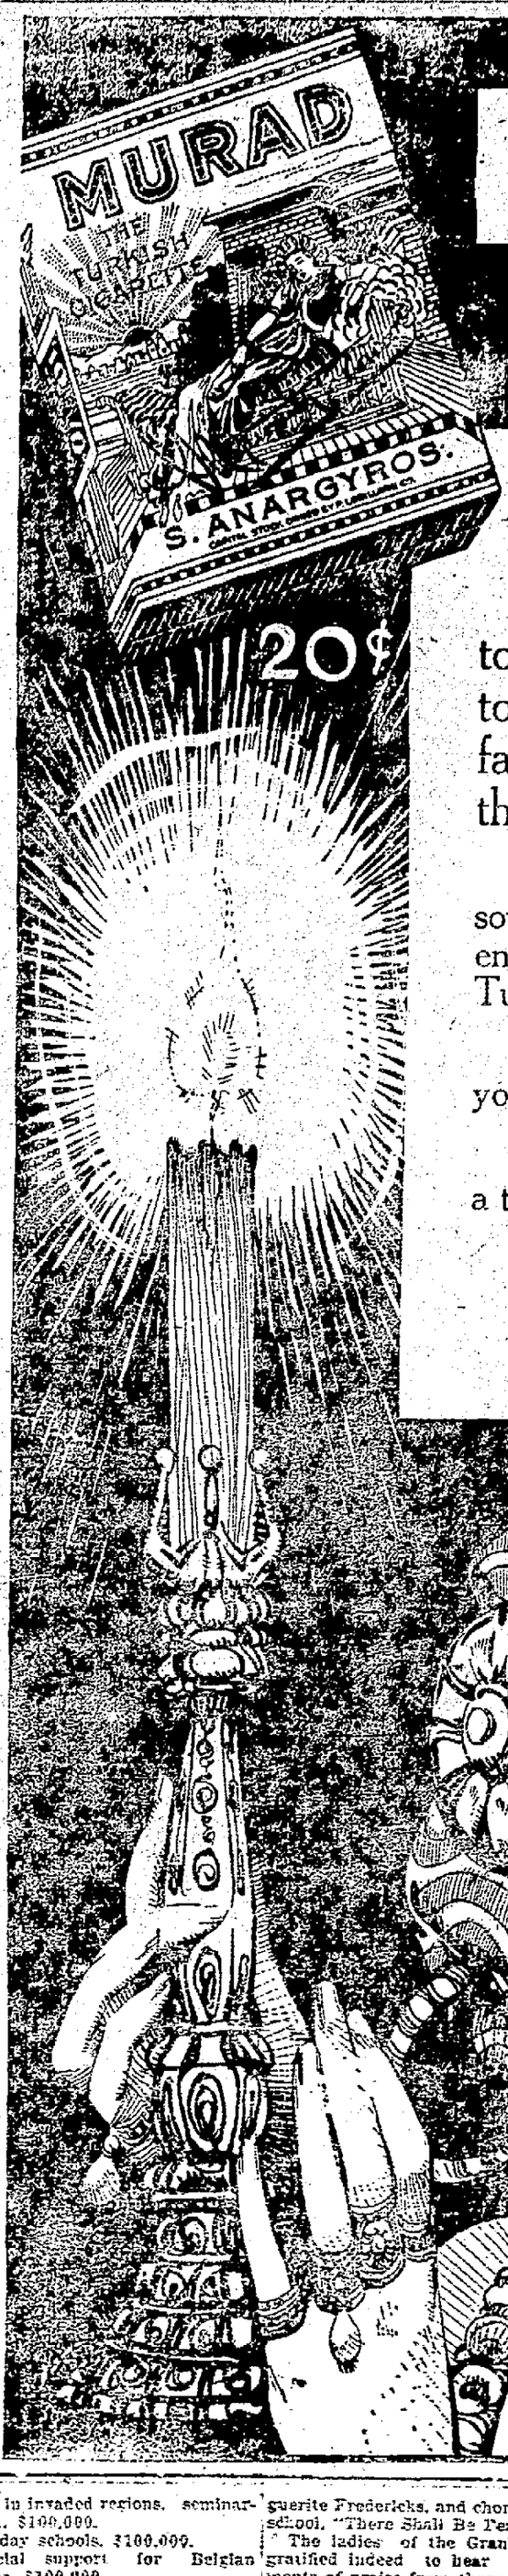

"Special support for Belgian churches, $100,000.

"Scholarships for French and Belgian students in American theological seminaries, $50,000.

"This makes a total fund of $3,200,00.

"All the funds not disbursed by the Comite De' Entr' Aide are distributed by the Comite D'Union Protestante, representing all the French and Belgian Protestant churches, of which Dr. Chauncey Goodrich, pastor of the American Church in Paris, and Rev. E. W. Bissbe, of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions are members."

People!—listen to this talk—it's all for your good. It's your money you're spending.

Says Whales Once Walked.

Whales used to walk. That is the statement of Prof. d'Arcy Thompson, authority on fishes of the sea, in a lecture on that subject at the Royal Institution, London. He said the whale originally had four feet or fins, but that the two hind ones had simply dwindled away. In bygone ages ancestors of the present family of whales walked about much as seals do.

NEW FEATURES AT BEAR MOUNTAIN

Thousand of Miles of Finest Roads Now Lure Autoists to Greatest Recreation Ground Along Hudson. Opened Friday—No Commercialism Within Park.

Motorists generally will be interested in the new attractions added recently to the large state playground at Bear Mountain which was formally opened Friday, Decoration Day, according to an announcement made by the Palisades Interstate Park Commission. This unpaid and non-partisan body, headed by George W. Perkins, has been making special arrangements to induce automobile tourists, during the approaching season, to visit this great recreation ground along the Hudson—the Switzerland of America—accessible over thousands of miles of the finest highways in the world.

Since last season extensive improvements have been made. Bear Mountain Grove, so popular with picnickers, has been resodded and hundreds of concrete tables and benches, constructed with a view to comfort, sanitation and economy, have been placed throughout. The unique system of free rowboats—the only one in the state—will again be in operation. To make them available to the greatest number—over 150,000 persons last year—it will be necessary to limit their free use to half hour periods upon deposit of twenty-five cents. Forfeitures last year more than paid for the expense of their maintenance.

Ten new omnibuses added to a fleet of fifteen will enable sightseers traveling by rail or boat to visit the interior of the park and survey the wonderful rock formations and the seven artificial lakes, motoring upon highways constructed by the commission. These vehicles, carrying over a quarter of a million persons annually without a single mishap, will again be operated at cost rates. Palisades Interstate Park enjoys the distinction of being one where no commercial concessions are let. Lunch stands, sight-seeing busses and other conveniences are operated by commission itself with the prime view of giving the public an opportunity of enjoying the numerous attractions afforded

Excellent facilities are offered for camping and Bear Mountain Inn, located upon one of the beauty spots of the land, serves over half a million persons each year. Approximately 50 charitable and social organizations aggregating 60,000 children, have already been assigned camp buildings for the season. Although these lodges lie almost 20 miles from the Inn, a system has been devised whereby the food is prepared and delivered in heat retaining receptacles by automobiles to the various shelters.

The piece of eight was the old Spanish piaster or peso, now called a dollar, thus known throughout the Spanish Main in the days of piracy, because it was divided into eight reals. It was a silver coin worth $1.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

The Stroller Hears There Are All Kinds of Fads Nowadays From Dancing Barefoot in the Morning Dew to Milk Baths and Reducing.

"What's this aesthetic dancing that you read about in the papers every once in a while?" asked the customer.

"To tell the truth," replied the busy barber, "the wife goes in for all the culture in our family, but as near as I can find out it is a method of developing a girl to the point where she can gracefully wiggle her fingers, arms, body, legs and toes. The wife calls it the expression of poetry in motion, or words to that effect."

"I get you," said the customer.

"And talking about aesthetic dancing," continued the barber, "reminds me that there used to be a lot of women down in New York who arose early in the morning and tripped barefooted through the dewy grass."

"What was the idea?" asked the customer.

"Just a fad," replied the barber, "although it was claimed that it was very healthful to the tootsie wootsies to be tickled by the dew of early morning, but personally I don't think I would ever take up such a fad, I would be afraid of stepping on a piece of glass."

"Another thing I read about," said the customer, "is milk baths and reducing. What is the idea?"

"The real reason back of it all," explained the barber, "is the hope that it will help them to become a perfect thirty-six."

"What's a perfect thirty-six," asked the customer in a bewildered tone of voice.

"It is easy to be seen that you are not married," replied the barber, "or have never had the fortune or misfortune to attend a weekly session of a sewing circle. But to enlighten your darkened mind the term expresses the ultimate perfection in the other sex's figure."

"What is the ultimate in the male?" asked the customer.

"All he needs is enough figures marked on the outside of the old pay envelope," replied the barber, with a grin.

MILTON.

Milton, May 29.—Druggist Hergert moved to Red Hook last Saturday and Dr. Freston is moving to his new place this side of Highland village this week. These professional men will be missed, but it is hoped that Milton will soon have as capable doctors in their place.

Perhaps the people will make Milton so attractive to live in that instead of moving out more good people may move in.

It was encouraging to read that owners of places in the village are and will keep sidewalks, etc., clean and nice to walk upon. Everyone join the V. I. E. (Village Improvement League.)

We all want to be able to say, "our place, Milton, is one of the finest looking villages along the Hudson." Can we say that now?

Messrs. Romer Roe, R. W. Hallock and Mrs. Ball cannot make this come to pass, without the help of every man, woman and child, besides the great help their money will be, their interest in keeping sidewalks and yards free from waste papers, old cans and everything mean to look at, and in some cases these things being in the way and causing one to lose their footing. We do not need "street cleaners" as in cities for we can keep these things off; each owner or one who rents, can easily keep our home surroundings as nice as we like to see them.

One dear old lady, who will be remembered by many, Mrs. Frances Hallock, who departed this life years ago, was a worker for Milton improvement and said: She would like to see every child, who would be so anxious to have and keep our place fine and neat, that they would pick up any old stray paper and take it home and burn it. Let's revive her spirit of enthusiasm! All pull together.

Grangers to the number of forty or more, visited Clintondale Grange on Monday evening. Mrs. C. R. Taber, Misses Evelyn Northrip and Ida Lyons sang the trio, "Love's Old Sweet Song," by request and Wm. H. Donaldson, Jr., sang a solo, also Mrs. Wm. Teas. They reported having a fine time and appreciated the Clintondale people's hospitality.

At memorial service last Sunday held in the M. E. church, the Rev. Blakeney delivered a very good sermon. Five veterans of the Civil War were present, and three young soldiers: Curtis W. Northrip, who served in France a year, Albert Lyons and Edward Thiels, who were training in their respective camps. The Civil War veterans were: C. M. Woolsey, R. M. Rownds and James A. Hyde of Milton and Carleton Merritt and Mr. Simpson of Marlborough. The Rev. Blakeney paid tribute to the memory of the six young men of Milton, who lost their lives. Malcolm A. Northrip was especially spoken of, owing to the fact that no funeral services in the church could be held for him as his passing away came in the fall, when no public gathering could be held because of the Spanish influenza. His chair in the choir was left vacant. An American flag tied with black ribbon was draped over it. The choir rendered an appropriate anthem.

John Perkins is having a monument placed in their family plot in the M. E. cemetery in honor of his son, Virgil, who departed this life at a southern camp, death being caused by pneumonia.

Union service will be held at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning for the jubilee campaign of W. C. T. U. Miss Lilian M. Phelps of Niagara Falls, national and state organizer, who has also given temperance speeches overseas, will be the speaker. Special music. All through these years the W. C. T. U. has helped uphold temperance work in this community. Come out, everyone, and so help and encourage them on.

Commander C. M. Woolsey kept the village flag at half mast from Memorial Sunday over Decoration Day in memory of the young lives given in our country's service.

A MISAPPLIED TERM.

A quarter of a century ago the country was full of "temperance societies" calling themselves by such names as "Friends of Temperance" and the like, but now "prohibition," "anti-saloon," etc., are the terms employed in the movement. The old term survives only in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which might more accurately describe itself as the "Woman's Christian Prohibition Union." The passing of the word "temperance" in this connection is perfectly logical, for temperance as defined by the lexicographers is not what is aimed at, the real object being total abstinence through prohibition by government degree. Webster's definition of "temperance" reads as follows: "Habitual moderation in regard to the indulgence of the natural appetites and passions, restrained or moderate indulgence; moderation; as temperance in eating and drinking; temperance in the indulgence of joy or mirth; specifically, moderation and sometimes abstinence, in regard to using intoxicating liquors."

If such is "temperance," then the real temperance advocates are those who stand for moderate indulgence in all nature's products, tobacco and intoxicants included. It is not surprising, therefore, that we have ceased to hear of temperance and hear only of prohibition in connection with the anti-liquor movement. The earlier term was obviously misapplied from the outset, and has inevitably been found undesirable by those who, while advocating "moderate indulgence" in so many instances, stand for total abstinence in one only.

NO LACK OF WOLVES.

In an editorial headed "The Return of the Wolf," the Philadelphia Record notes with astonishment a recent report of the presence of wolves in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania. "If these animals, supposedly extinct here, are now found in Westmoreland county," says the Record, "it is probable that they have come north from the mountains of West Virginia, for that rough tangle of hill and valley still gives them a shelter. This migration northward contrasts interestingly with the reappearance of wolves in north Connecticut, where they have worked their way southward, across Massachusetts from New Hampshire or Vermont. The wolf is still abundant in the Adirondack region of New York, and in Canada, of course."

The city dweller of our time is too ready to conclude that our wild animals of the larger and fiercer variety have become extinct. It is surprising, of course, to hear of wolves in thickly populated states of the Atlantic seaboard such as Pennsylvania and Connecticut, but in the case of no few sections of this great and varied country wolves have not "returned" for the simple reason that they have never really departed. This is evident from the fact that 90,000 wolf pelts were disposed of in a single day at the spring sale of furs in St. Louis early in May and that 28,-183 wolf pelts were reported as on sale in New York's fur market about a month earlier. Such figures convey the impression that the sale of wolf pelts for the whole country during 1919 would reveal an astonishing number of "kills."

A TYPICAL CASE.

It was reported from Camp Houston, Texas, not long ago that the barracks and soldiers' quarters at that place had been torn down and thousands of board feet of lumber had been burned. At about the same time information was received that new quarters were to be constructed at Camp Fleming, New Mexico. A recent traveler in New Mexico declared that the scarcity of lumber in that state was so pronounced that it was commanding prices as high as $50 per thousand. The lumber destroyed by burning at Camp Houston must have been in a fair state of preservation. We have government control of the railroads with the government empowered to ship materials anywhere, at any time. Why under the sun could not the lumber burned at Camp Houston have been taken to Camp Fleming and put to use? The point, of course, is that this administration is drunk with extravagance and without any idea of economy, so the people go right on digging in to their jeans for this criminal wastefulness. Are the wasters to be brought to book or not?

Section VII of the peace treaty must have required a lot of head work on the part of the European Solons. It provides that "Germany is to restore within six months the skull of the Sultan Okwawa, formerly in German East Africa, to his Britannic Majesty's government." The importance of this restoration probably lies in the fact that the skull is a fetish of the East Africans. But suppose Germany has lost it? If it were not for the certainty of its proving a hoodoo to the Africans, the suggestion that the skull of the Kaiser be sent as a substitute would be in order.

"That fellow is a Bolshevist in disguise." "Nonsense! A Bolshevist never disguises. He advertises."—Washington Star.

"Mrs. Gabble and myself are not on speaking terms." "Never mind, my dear. It won't hurt either of you to rest up a little."—Judge.

Hostess—"Please don't stop playing, Miss Jones." Lady at piano—"But don't I bore you? It's possible to have too much of a good thing, you know." Hostess—"Yes, but that doesn't apply to your playing."—Boston Transcript.

Stranger—"Does this man, Amos Darby, hold any place of distinction in the village?" Villager—"Ye kin judge fer y'rself. When th' postman brings th' weekly newspaper down to Guy Parkinson's grocery store, Amos is the first reader!"—Life.

"Guess we've been putting too many jazz records on the phonograph." "Why so?" "Our canary is beginning to syncopate."—Judge.

Caller (at 9:30 A. M.)"Mr. Jones in?" Office Boy—"No, sir." Caller—"Down yet?" Office Boy—"Sure! But a man may be down and always out."—Buffalo Express.

"He's a golf Bolshevist." "What's a golf Bolshevist?" "One who can't get any fun out of the game because the other fellow plays better than he."—Detroit Free Press.

"Senator Flubdub makes a good many public speeches." "Yes, but they don't do him no harm. He can say as little in a speech as anybuddy you ever listened to."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Now, about this League of Nations——" began the loquacious man. "My friend," interrupted the placid citizen, "we are employing the greatest intellects of the age to debate that subject. Why should you and I indulge in a futile and unscientific wrangle?"—Washington Star.

Few Now Search for Gold.

With the exception of the years of 1915 and 1916, when discoveries of tungsten brought a horde of wealth seekers to the Colorado hills, the search for gold has steadily diminished since the gold rush 25 years ago. At that time, old mining men say, the mountains were full of prospectors searching for new veins and placer deposits. The new generation has not followed in the footsteps of the old and one of the picturesque features of Western life is becoming extinct.

Potato and Nut Sausage.—Take two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, add one-half cupful of milk, one cupful of finely chopped nuts; salt, pepper, celery salt and onion juice for seasoning may be added to suit the taste. Add a beaten egg, form into sausages, flour, put into a greased pan with a small piece of salt pork on each. Bake until brown in a moderate oven.

Potato Souffle.—Take two cupfuls of mashed potato, one tablespoonful of melted fat, two tablespoonfuls of milk, one teaspoonful of salt, and pepper to taste. Mix well and fold in two stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a baking dish until it puffs and is brown.

Armenian Potatoes.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of vegetable oil. Add it to one quart of diced potatoes in a baking dish with one clove of garlic, one-fourth of a cupful of fresh tomato, one-half cupful of water, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, one bunch of parsley finely chopped. Bake in a slow oven forty minutes.

Potato Omelette.—Take one cupful of mashed potato, pepper to taste, one teaspoonful of salt. Add three beaten yolks to the potato and beat till the lumps are removed. Season with onion juice or chopped parsley. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff and fold into the mixture. Put into a well-greased pan and bake in a hot oven until brown. Turn and fold on a hot platter.

of the clinics already held, and by that report it was shown that of the forty positive cases discovered, twenty-six had not been known before, a statement to make not only the health doctors of the county, but every doctor in the county, as well as the community at large, do some serious thinking. Therefore it is something to be thankful for that there will be four more clinics held in the county, in June, with two return clinics; one at Saugerties, the other here in Kingston.

But Dr. Rose reminded the doctors and nurses present that those cases which had come or been brought to the clinics, undoubtedly were not all of the cases in the community, and it is the duty of everyone, whether health doctor, any doctor or no doctor, to report to the health doctor any suspicious case, especially if it might endanger other lives. The law provides that any person may so report a case, not as a matter of hardship to the possible patient, but for their benefit and the safe guarding of the community. If, after examination, it is proven that the suspicion was without foundation, so much the better, but if the case is a real one, possibly a life or many lives may be saved.

Dr. Rose announced, that beginning with July 10, the state would provide a three weeks' special, intensive course of training for the tuberculosis superintendents of the state, and it was expected that after completing this course our county superintendents would be prepared to accurate diagnose cases of tuberculosis in the very first stages.

With over 200 either suspicious or positive cases already discovered in Ulster county, the need for such trained men and adequate hospital facilities would be plain to all, especially when one considers the number of contact cases which there must be in families where positive cases have been found.

One of the physicians in attendance called attention to the fact that many times, in this section of the country, patients would come here seriously or critically ill with tuberculosis, and having their own physician would not call a local doctor, which might account for some of the cases not being reported locally until after death. This, Dr. Rose said, should not happen as any physician having a patient going to some other locality was supposed to notify the health officer of that locality, and the doctor said that this custom would become general very soon now.

The splendid aid given in the fight against tuberculosis, by the public health nurses, was noted by Dr. Rose, who stated that now there are nearly one thousand public health nurses in the state of New York. Where patients come to the clinics and it is found that they have no regular physician but need one, they are advised what to do so far as going to a doctor is concerned, and the tuberculosis nurse further looks after the case so long as needed.

One thing Dr. Rose made very plain, and that was the visiting tuberculosis nurse is not expected to do bedside nursing, unless it be in case of an emergency or to instruct. She is expected to instruct both the patient and those caring for the patient, and to make return visits to see to it that the instructions are followed out. It is also the duty of the public health tuberculosis nurse, to advise with patients about going to the county hospital and to assist in making all arrangements for their entrance into the hospital.

Before closing his clear, informing and helpful address, Dr. Rose stated that at the clinic to be held in Kingston the latter part of June, it was expected to have the Ulster County Medical Society meet here at the same time, when Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf will be here to demonstrate his method of examining possible tuberculosis patients, and members of the Loomis staff will also be here to show their form of treatment so far as will be practicable, without their own equipment. This will offer a rare opportunity to the physicians of the county to get first hand up-to-date information regarding this preventive work which means the actual saving of countless lives.

The next speaker was Dr. A. C. Gates, superintendent of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, who gave a brief outline of the history of our hospital, which was the development of the first summer camp operated in the season of 1909. He made clear the manner in which the land had been purchased by private contributions, the equipment bought, in part from the same source, in part as the result of tag days, Christmas seal sales, etc, and in the beginning in part by a special appropriation from the supervisors. At the same time they appropriated a sum toward maintenance which they had increased from year to year as the growing need was apparent. Today, the hospital is entirely inadequate to the needs as shown by the number of cases being brought to light. Most of the cases at the hospital have been advanced cases, and while it has been impossible to do little more for such cases than to make the patients comfortable, it has meant that their removal to the hospital has greatly lessened their danger in the homes from which they were taken.

Since there has been a waiting list for beds at the hospital, it has been deemed unwise to take any patients from outside the county, even though there might be one or two vacant beds for a short time. One point Dr. Gates made emphatic and that was that it made no matter whether a patient was able to pay a little, to pay the full amount to cover his or her maintenance and care, or to pay nothing, when it came to the care of the patient. All patients received the same care, and very best possible to give. Dr. Gates passed around among the health officers a number of the needed admission blanks, explaining them in some detail, so that they might know the exact procedure necessary for the admitting of patients from the county, provided there was room at the hospital.

Dr Brooks, of the Department of Communicable Diseases, was next introduced by Dr Laidlaw. Dr. Brooks at once congratulated the city and county health officers (it was a matter of regret that the city health officer was not present) on the opening of the laboratory, which would greatly expedite public health work, especially where speedy bacteriological tests were needed. Dr. Brooks then gave an exceedingly interesting account of how Dr. Briggs, state health officer, went to Europe a number of years ago, and participated in the operating of the first little laboratory which opened up the way for the present municipal laboratories. Dr. Biggs opening the first such laboratory in New York city on his return to this country after several trips abroad. Many points which he emphasized in regard to the prevention and treatment of diphtheria had already been noted in the Kingston Freeman at the time of the epidemic here, while other points were of a distinctly technical nature. One thing Dr. Brooks did emphasize and that was that it was far wiser to give an immunizing dose of anti-toxin where it might not be really needed, than to fail for any reason to give one where it was needed. Another thing which he noted was that it had been learned that in many fatal cases, too small doses of the anti-toxin had been given, when first the physician was called, which often was after the case was well developed, people so often delaying to call a doctor for a case of sore throat until it became alarming, when the doctor was often greatly handicapped. Dr. Brooks considered the preventive measures required to immunize contacts, to be both a moral and legal duty on the part of the physician, but held that it was scarcely fair to ask the doctor to take the release cultures after treating a case of diphtheria. That should be the task of the public health nurse or some one authorized by the state in connection with the laboratory or health department.

At the close of Dr. Brooks's talk, full of valuable information for all present, the meeting adjourned.

BUILD NOW WITH KINGSTON

Kingston is a good place to live, to work, to own a HOME.

And more people are learning this all the time.

There has been substantial growth since the census of 1915.

And our industries are coming through the period of after-the-war adjustment with new peace strength.

Further growth is on the way in industries and in residential development.

Even now desirable houses are scarce.

Kingston is working to develop her unsurpassed natural advantages as she worked in "going over the top" in every war time call.

That home that you build today will be part of the larger and finer city five years from now, and will share in the increased values.

PEERLESS
Two-Power-Range
EIGHT

Economy and the Super-heated Manifold

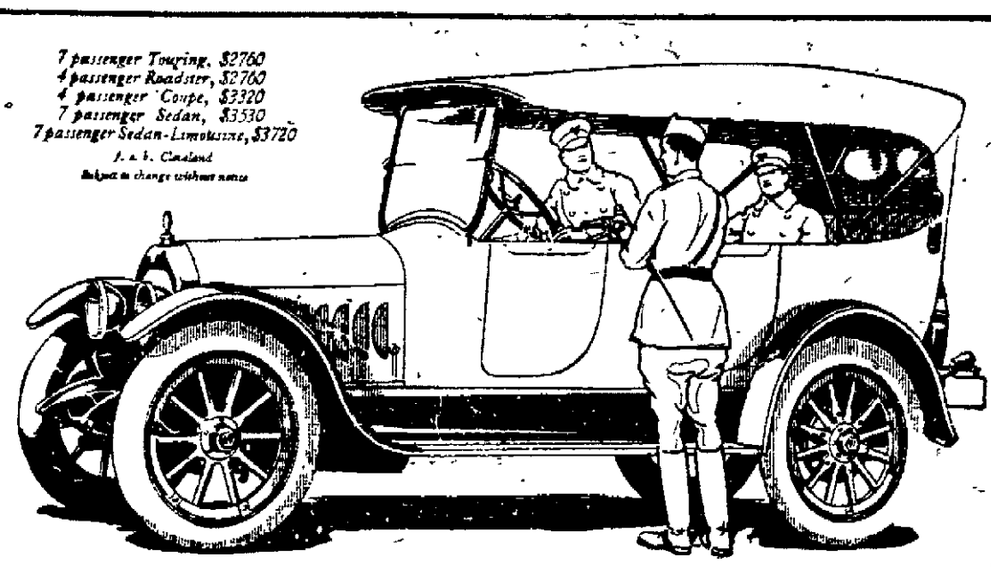

The amount of power you realize from a gallon of fuel depends first on just how your motor handles gasoline and changes it into power; and then on the control you have of that power.

There is a difference between gasoline vapor and gasoline gas. It is the gas that explodes and gives you the power in the cylinders. Maximum results come when your fuel is all changed to gas and this gas is properly used by the motor.

The Peerless super-heated manifold gets a maximum volume of explosive gas from a given quantity of fuel. This construction of the motor, for it is more than a device, more than mere design, solves the problem of turning into an explosive mixture those heavy particles of gasoline that are sucked through the carburettor. These particles or droplets are expanded into gas and combined with the explosive mixture so that they do the work for which you buy them. The Peerless inlet header is surrounded on three sides by a jacket that is heated by the exhaust gasses as they come from the cylinders. It not only breaks up the heavy particles of the low grade gasoline we are getting now-a-days and that slip through the carburettor, but so thoroughly warms the whole explosive mixture that the cylinders receive only a completely gasified and properly carburetted mixture. Only in this way can the maximum results be secured.

And with the Two Power Ranges of the Peerless Eight you have your power under perfect control. You have a Loafing Range for ordinary utility driving; you have a Sporting Range for brute power and speed.

The most thrilling demonstration of your motor car experience awaits you.

THREE BEST BOY BIKE RIDERS

Carson, Bower and Norton Were Speediest Entries on Pine Grove Avenue and Took Away the Jewelry.

Kenneth Carson, Charles Bower and Frank Norton were winners in the three bicycle races held yesterday afternoon on Pine Grove avenue by the Kingston Bicycle Dealers Association. Carson finished first in the Boy Scout race, Bower took the high school event, while Norton pumped in far ahead of his nine other opponents in the free-for-all.

Over 200 people witnessed the races. They were lined up at the starting and finishig points and along the track, at times making it difficult for the police to keep them from crowding in the way of the racers. The officials of the races were: Judges, F. L. Thornberry, H. B Walker and A Rhinehart; timers, N. Dillinger, Frank Pitts and Harry LeFevre; starter, A. W. Sudy; field judge, E. Finch; clerk, Edsil Flowers.

The Boy Scout race was the first called by the clerk. Six scouts lined up at the starting point. They were Kenneth Carson, Kenneth Stoutenberg, Cutler Brown, Vernon Beehler, Israel Reuben and Paul Linson. The course was twice around the boulevard. At the crack of the starters pistol they were off. Carson taking the lead and maintaining throughout the entire two laps. He broke the tape at 4 minutes. Kenneth Stoutenberg came in second, time 4 minutes and 6 seconds, with Cutler Brown finishing third, 4 minutes and 10 seconds.

There were but three entries for the high school race, Charles Bower, Raymond Wellmont and Burton Haver. The course consisted of three times around the track. Haver jumped to the lead with Wellmont close behind. Bower made a mistap in mounting his bike but recovered himself and was soon speeding after his two opponents. Half way down the track he caught them, and a few minutes later rounded the curve at the Wiltwyck cemetery far in the lead. As he passed the line for the second lap he increased his speed, making his lead so great that it would have been impossible for the other two riders to catch or pass him. The contest then lay between Haver and Wellmont for second place. They kept quite close on the first lap, but on the second Wellmont laid low on his handle bars and pushed the pedals hard and passed Haver, who, was riding with his head up, fast losing his wind. Bower crossed the line at 6 minutes and 18 seconds. Wellmont came in second, 11 seconds later, with Haver finishing in 6 minutes and 32 seconds.

Only ten took part in the free-for-all, four times around the track, race. They were Frank Norton L Shaffer, Roy Meyer, A. B. Bogart, Jr., Stanley Brooks, James Clearwater, Gerald Fitzgerald, Kenneth Zeeh, Earl Burhans and Joseph Roche. This event was a matter of endurance more than speed. The riders were all bunched together for the first three laps. Brooks took the lead, and although he bears a reputation as a good rider, yet being a little too confident he was passed by Norton, Shaffer and Meyer on the fourth lap. Norton finised first at exactly 8 minutes and 7 2-5 seconds. Shaffer came in in 8 minutes and 11 seconds, and Meyer in 1-5 of a second later. Just as Meyer reached the finishing point his bike swerved and he took a spill, escaping with a scratched elbow. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Boy Scout Race.

Kenneth Carson, first, gold watch; Kenneth Stoutenberg, second, gold medal. Cutler Brown, third, bicycle horn.

BOICE DANCERS AT ST. MARY'S

The Girl Scouts are hustling, as they always do when there is something worth while to be done, to sell tickets for the exhibition of aesthetic dancing to be given by Miss Delta Boice and her pupils next Wednesday evening at—not the High School—St. Mary's Hall, for the girls know that the more tickets that are sold, the more money there will be for their camp this summer. And this is the first time that there has been a Girl Scout Camp, so all of the Girl Scouts are just bubbling over with enthusiasm to make a success of the project.

May 27, 1919, with the rising of the sun in Colorado the spirit of Faith winged away into the full light of eternal day. This gentle spirit had been loaned to us for a while, and for a bare score of the allotted span had made only happiness for all within her sphere; and now eternity is all the brighter for this sweet spirit which has but returned whence it came. Look away from the temple where she dwelt; look up, our Faith is there. HILLIS' MEMORIAL DAY ADDRESS

Memorial Day, 1919, dawned bright and clear Friday, with ideal weather prevailing throughout the day and evening. This year's Memorial Day, while one of joy at the successful close of the greatest war in the history of the world, was also one of more than usual sadness, for the angel of death had touched more lives and brought more sorrow into the homes of the city than at any time since the day was first set apart to honor the memory of the heroes of '61.

With the death toll of the world war, and the larger death toll of the influenza epidemic the day attained greater significance, and the early morning hours were set aside for visiting the cemeteries and the laying of floral tributes on the graves. With the sun lazily shining in the blue sky above, and the trees and foliage in full bloom all earth seemed to have dressed for the occasion.

But while the greater part of the morning hours were given over to the thoughts of the dead, yet after all this is a world of the living, and sorrow was dropped like a cloak, and the mantle of joy was worn during the afternoon [illegible] Kingston Point [illegible] tire, welcomed Park, in full gala attand both [illegible] thousands of guests. Colonial [illegible] afternoon and evening the ship [illegible] City Band under the leadership [illegible] Professor George Muller. Eyond a fine musical program.

[illegible] the merry-go-round was [illegible]pped with new tunes this year, [illegible]e most popular of which seemed to be "Till We Meet Again," and the Point has been placed in first class shape for the season, and especially attractive to the kiddies were the playground swings and slides.

Forsyth Park was also visited by many during the afternoon and evening, while the local theaters all did a land office business at all performances. The bicycle races on Pine Grove avenue drew many during the afternoon.

All in all it was a great day in Kingston.

Graves of Soldier Dead.

Following the established custom of past years the graves of the soldier dead were decorated with flowers in the morning by the school children. The uptown schools, headed by Mayor Canfield and the Veterans of '61, who rode in automobiles, marched from Albany avenue to Wiltwyck Cemetery, where brief exercises were held. The downtown children, headed by members of the G. A. R. and a band, marched to Montrepose Cemetery, where brief exercises were also held and the graves decorated.

Exercises at City Hall.

The two marching columns then proceeded to City Hall Park, where the parade disbanded, and the principal exercises of the day were held.

While there was a good sized attendance at the exercises, there was room for many more and those who missed the oration of the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis missed one of the best Memorial Day addresses ever delivered in Kingston.

The Rev. A. H. Haynes offered the invocation. W. Anderson Carl, wearing the French Croix de Guerre on his breast, delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address, and Mayor Canfield introduced the orator of the day, the Rev. Dr. Hillis.

Young in Spirit, Old in Years.

On the platform back of the speaker sat the boys of '61, still young in spirit, but old in years, and but for whose gallant deeds America would never have been able to play the part she did in freeing the world of the menace of the Hun. As the years fly swiftly by their ranks are steadily depleted.

The work those blue-clad men accomplished will always shine forth from the annals of our country's history. To it will be added the deeds of our boys of 1918, who have played so prominent a part in writing America foremost in the pages of the world's history.

Dr. Hillis's address was one of the finest ever heard in this city. He clothed his thoughts in purest English, and his oration was filled with word pictures that stirred the heart with their poetry and imagery. His diction was exceptionally fine, every word being clearly and distinctly enunciated.

He spoke for over an hour and outlined the history of our country from its birth to the present day. In opening he called attention to the fact that great wars demand time to give them the correct perspective in the world's history. Our country had fought seven wars. In 1776 we fought that a nation might be founded. It was a war for freedom on the land. The war of 1812 was for freedom on the seas, the war of 1846 for the security of our frontiers and the sacredness of treaties which we did not consider as merely scraps of paper. The war of 1861 to 1865 was fought that this nation might be preserved, while the war of 1898 was to bring freedom and liberty from Spanish oppression to the peoples of Porto Rico and Cuba. The present world war just closed was to spread democracy over the world.

Our Republic Shall Stand.

Dr. Hillis likened an autocratic government to a battleship. Pierced by a cannon ball it may be sunk, but our republic of many states is like a raft. One log may be pierced, but as long as a log is left it does not sink. Our nation will exist as long as there is a man left. To destroy our country it would be necessary to kill every man and woman in it.

Abolishing Of Slavery.

The Civil War was brought about to free the slaves. He traced the beginning of slavery from colonial times to the Sixties. Strange as it may appear, the first societies to advocate the abolishment of slavery were organized in the south.

There was a movement on foot to abolish slavery in the colonies before the Revolutionary War, but England, Portugal and Spain entered into an agreement to maintain that damnable institution as it was a paying proposition. Portugal furnished the African slaves, driving them down to the coast, where they were sold to the Spanish dealers, who in turn sold them to the English and they were brought to America on English ships.

The First Abolition Meeting.

It has been said that the north finding that slaves did not pay had sold the slaves to the south. This was not true, not a slave in the north had been sold. One state after another had made the slave free.

In 1832 there were more abolition societies in the south than in the north. The first abolition meeting was held in Baltimore.

Whitney's Great Invention.

The greatest wealth of the south was the cotton fields but they were not a paying proposition with slave labor. He said that a slave would only strip a pound of cotton of its seed in a day.

In a most interesting way the speaker told how Eli Whitney came to invent the cotton gin which revolutionized the cotton industry in the south.

Whitney's Courtship.

In a southern home where Whitney was employed as tutor he met a beautiful southern girl with blue eyes and golden hair. During a dinner the conversation turned to the cotton fields. It was stated that if any man could invent a machine to remove the seed from cotton it was Whitney.

That night with the thoughts of how he could make enough money to think of marrying the girl with the blue eyes Whitney spent a restless night. Toward morning he glanced out of his bedroom window and saw a cat on top of the chicken coop reaching through the slats with her paw in an effort to draw a chicken through. The cat failed in getting a chicken but drew forth many feathers.

The Cotton Gin.

Instantly the idea of the cotton gin came to Whitney. Instead of the wooden slats he would use wire and in place of the cat a wheel with catches on it which revolving would draw up the cotton through the wire mesh, dropping the seeds below.

The invention of the cotton gin made slavery a paying proposition in the south, but the southerns fought against his securing a patent on his invention. He was forced through the courts and borrowed $60,000 to fight the case but lost in the end. All that he got out of the invention was the girl with the golden hair.

Whitney's Other Invention.

Disgusted with the treatment the south had afforded him Whitney came north and it was there that he invented the Winchester rifle which, "in the hands of you boys," turning to the blue clad heroes, "destroyed slavery."

Lincoln the Big Achievement.

He said that the biggest achievement of this country was Lincoln. With a vivid word picure he drew the birth of Lincoln. He said that God had placed the little baby in the arms of the angel of sorrow and had said that as the boy grew up every thing that he loved best should be taken from him. Lincoln was a man of sorrow, and it was through the sorrows and tribulations of his life that he was enabled to perform the great work of freeing two millions of slaves.

In closing he paid a touching tribute to the boys of '61 and the boys of '18.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. P. C. Weyant of Trinity M. E. Church.

Jean had been promised a kitten by one of the neighbors and after receiving the consent of her parents took a gunny sack with her in which to bring the kitten home. After having been gone all the afternoon she returned empty-handed. Her father asked her where the kitten was and she replied: "Oh, I can't have it for awhile. It just came out of the hatch."
